

1st Yun Posun Institute for Democracy - University of Missouri Joint Conference

This event is co-sponsored by the Yun Posun Institute for Democracy, Truman School of Government & Public Affairs, Asian Affairs Center, and Institute for Korean Studies.

Elections and Democracy

Thursday, November 10, 2022
S304 Memorial Union

Registration, 9:00 am
Coffee & Refreshments

Opening Remarks, 9:30 - 10:00 am
Sangkoo Yun (Board Member, Yun Posun Memorial Foundation)
Lael Keiser (Director, Truman School of Government & Public Affairs)

PANEL I: The State of Korea's Democracy, 10:00 am - 12:00 pm

"How Democratic is Korea's Democracy?"
Won-Taek Kang, Professor of Politics, Seoul National University

"South Korea as Outlier: Deepening Democracy During an Era of Global Autocratization"
Vanya Krieckhaus, Professor of Political Science, University of Missouri

"Democratic Ceilings in East Asia: The Long Shadow of Nationalist Polarization"
Aram Hur, Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of Missouri (Co-Director, Institute for Korean Studies)

Discussants:
David Webber, Associate Professor Emeritus of Political Science, University of Missouri
Gidong Kim, Ph.D. Candidate in Political Science, University of Missouri (Graduate Fellow, Institute for Korean Studies)

Break, 12:00 - 1:30 pm

PANEL II: Elections and Democratic Politics, 1:30 - 3:30 pm

"Party Politics since South Korea's Democratization in 1987"
Yong-Ho Kim, Visiting Scholar, Seoul National University, Asia Center (Director, Yun Posun Institute for Democracy)

"Economic Voting and U.S. Presidential Elections: A New Measure of Retrospective Incumbent Performance Evaluations"
James Endersby, Professor of Political Science, University of Missouri (Director, Canadian Studies)

"Nationalism and Public Perceptions of Redistribution: Analyzing Interview Data"
Gidong Kim, Ph.D. Candidate in Political Science, University of Missouri (Graduate Fellow, Institute for Korean Studies)
Baekkwon Park, Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Missouri

Discussants:
Wangsik Kim, Professor Emeritus of Ewha Womans University (Adjunct Professor of Korean Studies, University of Missouri)
Yu Bin Kim, Ph.D. Candidate in Political Science, University of Missouri (Graduate Fellow, Institute for Korean Studies)
Juhyun Bae, Ph.D. Candidate in Public Policy, University of Missouri (Graduate Fellow, Institute for Korean Studies)